For the final lab, I created a map that shows ideal living areas in Chester County, Pennsylvania. The criteria I used to define ideal living area is in an easily accessible but quiet area and nearby a body of water. To fit the first criteria, I used the buffer tool to find the land area between 0.5 and 2 miles distance from major roads. The second criteria shows the land within 0.3 miles of water. The data I used was retrieved from TIGER, US Census Bureau. I created this map on December 4, 2017.
